

November
Greetings from Misfit Acres!!!

We want to extend our most heartfelt thanks to everyone who attended our 3rd annual "Misfit Acres Meet-up". We are very hopeful that each of you enjoyed the afternoon as much as we did! How 'bout those Vikings Cheerleaders!! What delightful ladies! Mark from M C Express out did himself - as always. Lonesome Ron was a fantastic addition. Thank you Ron for volunteering your time. Leo, Thank you so much for the awesome slide show on this site!! We have heard from many people that they discovered Misfit Acres while browsing TalknHorses.

We are already working on plans for next year's fundraiser. If anyone has suggestions or comments which will help us make improvements, please feel free to email me. We just want to offer everyone a family-style event which will be fun and affordable.

And if you get a minute, would you mind dropping me an email regarding how you heard about the fundraiser? We are trying to make the most of our advertising dollars and this would really be beneficial to know.

Ok, back to business at Misfit Acres. The horse population is all doing wonderfully. Not really sure what River thought about the snow this morning. He just kept looking at me during morning chores like "you gotta be kidding, right?" Of course little Cookie was cozy in her little building. No one else seemed to give it a second thought.

We are very excited about the continuing work on the new fencing. Special thanks to Crystal and Derek for all their volunteer time helping with this big project. Crystal, we got a little behind on painting - but I am sure we can rack up some sunshine time this spring and summer catching up to Bruce & Derek.

And, we are proud to tell you we have a new product we are offering for sale for fundraising purposes. My niece and I have produced a children's coloring book about Trevor, a little boy with a kind heart. This book is the story of Trevor who comes across something he knows is wrong and decides to seek the help he needs to correct the situation. The plans are that this will be a series of Trevor stories geared toward helping young people make responsible decisions about right and wrong.

We are printing, assembling, and binding the books from our hom. They are letter size, approximately 20 pages with heavy weight front and back covers, and comb bound. (Bruce is getting to be a master of the comb-binding machine) We hope to have a description on our website soon. The books will sell for $3 plus $1 postage. Please email me to order or for more information. All proceeds from these books go directly to Misfit Acres' horses.

We wish each of you a wonderful Thanksgiving season!! We at Misfit Acres will be counting all the blessings life has brought to us. As always, if anyone would like to visit the sanctuary, please feel free to give us a call. We would be happy to introduce you to the "residents",

Bruce & Jody
